

Graduate Council Report
March 6, 2014

New Course Requests

ANTH 656. Ancient Foodways and Cooking Technology. (3-0). Credit 3. This seminar reviews the study of ancient foodways and cooking technologies, particularly fire-based methods, especially in the context of human evolution, subsistence and settlement behavior, social organization, theoretical underpinnings, and archaeological manifestations thereof, with the focus on ancient hunter-gatherer populations, wild plants, terrestrial animals, and aquatic resources. Prerequisite(s): ANTH 602 or 604 or Permission of Instructor.

INTA 662. Nuclear Security Threat Assessment and Analysis. (3-0). Credit 3. Study the manner in which we conduct threat assessments and the analysis of nonstate actors in the fields of nuclear and radiological security; intended end state is to equip graduate students with the ability to determine the threats associated with nonstate actors in terms of nuclear or radiological capabilities.

MARS 658. Fisheries Management Strategies. (3-0) Credit 3. International and U.S. federal and selected state fishery management strategies; history of fisheries, jurisdictional issues, eco-system approaches and case studies. Prerequisite (s): Graduate standing or approval of instructor.

Graduate Council Report
March 6, 2014

Course Change Request

INTA 627: Great Books

COURSE TITLE AND CATALOG DESCRIPTION:

FROM: INTA 627 The Great Books of World Politics. (3-0). Credit 3. Fundamental texts dealing with war and diplomacy from ancient Greeks through the presents; authors will include Thucydides, Sun-tzu, Ibn Khaldun, Plutarch, Cicero, Augustine, Aquinas, Machiavelli, Hobbes, Bacon, Rousseau, Hume, Bentham, Grotius, Vattel, Montesquieu, Smith, Kant, The Federalists, Tocqueville, Burke, Mill, Hegel, Nietzsche, Clausewitz, Marx, Freud, Schmitt, Heidegger, and Rawls among others.

TO: INTA 627 Foundations of Strategy and Statecraft. (3-0). Credit 3. Fundamental texts dealing with war and diplomacy from ancient Greeks through the presents; authors will include Thucydides, Sun-tzu, Ibn Khaldun, Plutarch, Cicero, Augustine, Aquinas, Machiavelli, Hobbes, Bacon, Rousseau, Hume, Bentham, Grotius, Vattel, Montesquieu, Smith, Kant, The Federalists, Tocqueville, Burke, Mill, Hegel, Nietzsche, Clausewitz, Marx, Freud, Schmitt, Heidegger, and Rawls among others.

INTA 655: Evolution of the EU

COURSE TITLE AND CATALOG DESCRIPTION:

FROM: INTA 655 Evolution of the European Union. (3-0). Credit 3. Explore the wider implications of EU enlargement and integration, critically assess current EU developments and policies pertinent to international affairs, generate and apply a variety of individual and team oriented skills on real-world problems.

TO: INTA 655 Nationalism, Immigration and Terrorism in the European Union. (3-0). Credit 3. Familiarization with the important trends in European politics and security; investigation of the rise of nationalism and extremist groups in the European Union, the newest immigration trends, their impact on the EU member states and on the EU as a whole; terrorism and other forms of political violence in the European Union and the strategies developed to counter them; relationships between extremist groups in Europe and the U.S.

INTA 677 Political Islam and Jihad

COURSE TITLE AND CATALOG DESCRIPTION:

FROM: INTA 677. Political Islam and Jihad. (3-0). Credit 3. Investigate how Political Islam developed in the first half of the century and why it gained so much support. Examine the various strategies state elites have taken toward political Islam and will consider the regional and transnational manifestations and implications of Islamist movements; intended for individuals preparing for professional careers in the conduct of international affairs. Prerequisites: Graduate classification.

TO: INTA 677 Islam in International Politics. (3-0). Credit 3. Investigate how Political Islam developed in the first half of the century and why it gained so much support. Examine the various strategies state elites have taken toward political Islam and will consider the regional and transnational manifestations and implications of Islamist movements; intended for individuals preparing for professional careers in the conduct of international affairs. Prerequisites: Graduate classification.

SPSY 641 Child Therapy

PREREQUISITE (S):

FROM: PSYC 628; Approval of department head

TO: SPSY 610; Approval of department head

Graduate Council Report
March 6, 2014

Curriculum Change Request

Master of Public Service Administration

DESCRIPTION OF CHANGE:

Addition of Nonprofit Management Track and International Nongovernmental Organizations Concentration

Graduate Council Report
March 6, 2014

Special Consideration Items

Master of Education in Curriculum and Instruction

Juris Master Degree in Health Care Law