

New Course Requests

MGMT 627. Developing Leadership Talent. (3-0). Credit 3. Understand role of leadership in careers; procedures for leadership development to drive organizational success for HRM; identify, analyze, and apply evidence-based approaches for developing leadership talent; leadership problem analysis. Prerequisite(s): Graduate classification.

SOPH 676. Professional Development Seminar in Public Health Teaching. (1-0). Credit 1. This 1-credit course is designed mainly to provide graduate student skills for course development, delivery and assessment within the context of public health. Graduate student who are or may be Teaching Assistants will satisfy TAMU and Center for Teaching Excellent training requirements through this course. Prerequisite(s): None.

Course Change Request

ANTH 680: Teaching Anthropology
Course Description, Course Credit & Grade

From:

Course Description: Introduction to course planning for future instructors of anthropology; Topics include course design, student motivation and engagement, assessment of design and implementation, and technology use in education.

Course Credit: (1-0). Credit 1

Grade: Letter Grade (G)

To:

Course Description: Introduction to course planning for future instructors of anthropology; includes course design, student motivation and engagement, assessment of design and implementation and technology use in education.

Course Credit: (0-0). Credit 0

Grade: Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory (S)

PHPM 606: Health Systems Management

Course Title, Repeatable for Credit & Three-peat

From:

Course Title: Introduction Health Policy and Management

Repeatable for Credit: Yes

Three-peat: Yes

To:

Course Title: Health Systems Management

Repeatable for Credit: No

Three-peat: No

Special Consideration

College of Dentistry

Request for Course Renumbering for Graduate Courses

School of Public Health

Masters of Public Health

Master of Public Health in Population Health

Chemical Engineering

Doctor of Philosophy in Chemical Engineering